

QUALITY, NOT BULK
Some papers are bigger than The News, yes, but what is in them? Which do you prefer, quality or bulk? This paper is different from any other paper published. It has an originality you do not find often. You can get more bulk for the money, but not the quality. You buy coal by the ton, but you don't buy diamonds that way.

MINERS DEFY LAW AND ORDER

Court Injunction by the Government Cannot Avert Great Coal Strike, Say the Leaders—U. S. Troops Being Concentrated Near Coal Fields—Thousands Have Quit Work.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction obtained here today by the government cannot avert the strike of bituminous coal miners set for midnight tonight, according to John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers. Lewis' pronouncement came shortly after he had been served with a writ stopping strike activities at union headquarters here.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 31.—United Mine Workers of America will disregard the injunction ordering them not to strike, according to J. R. Kennamer, president of the Alabama district, who said he had received instructions from Indianapolis this afternoon to proceed with the walkout.

WALSLEIGH, Colo., Oct. 31.—The walkout of coal miners started in this district this afternoon. By 2 o'clock 100 men had left their work, taking their tools with them.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 31.—The strike of Utah soft coal miners scheduled tonight was declared off in a telegram received here today by John M. McLennan, from John L. Lewis. Approximately 4500 miners would have quit work, McLennan said.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Additional troops, drawn from military departments which apparently will not be concerned with the coal strike, have been moved to points in the central department and placed under command of General Wood, Secretary Baker said today. Lieutenant General Bullard, commanding the Eastern department, which includes part of Virginia and West Virginia, also will be given reinforcements.

Officer McCandless left last night for a few weeks' visit with his father, at Armonia, Plumas county. By golly, with Mac, off the force we are afraid somebody will come around here at night and steal us or something.

MRS. ADA CALFEE DIES SUDDENLY

Weakened greatly by her prolonged illness and her advanced years, that she could not withstand the shock of the operation performed at St. Francis hospital in San Francisco, several days ago, Mrs. Ada Calfee died yesterday morning at that institution.

Rev. Calfee was notified early in the morning of her serious condition, and hastened to her bedside, but he did not reach the hospital in time to bid her a last farewell.

Greatly loved in the city for her good works and as the helpmeet of a man who has taken a large part in the city's upbuilding and growth, Mrs. Calfee passes to her great reward mourned by hundreds of friends who will feel greatly grieved at news of her death.

She was a native of Fairmount, Illinois, 67 years of age and a graduate of Fairmount Academy. Married in June, 1879, the couple went west and made their home in New Mexico and Arizona, coming to California in 1887. They made their home in Richmond in September, 1904.

Besides her husband, the Rev. D. W. Calfee, and four sons, George, Ross, Carl and Burke, the deceased is survived by three sisters and two brothers—Noburne, Neville, Modesto; Frank Neville, Fairmount, Illinois; Mrs. Henry Collins, Danville, Ill.; Mrs. Anna Taylor, Oaklin, Ill.; and Mrs. Nellie Owens, Ft. Smith, Arkansas. At the request of the Rev. Calfee, F. M. Neville, cousin of Mrs. Calfee, is arranging for the funeral.

CORPORATION CAMOUFLAGE BY HARTNETT

Councilman Says "Me, Too," To Revamp by Fake Taxpayers' Asso. of Haviland's Ancient Pipe Dream—He Also Crucifies John Nichol and Wants Few to Pay the Bill of Many.

To the Taxpayers and voters of Richmond:

After ten years' experience on the Council of the City of Richmond, I know to what extent some of the property owners along the waterfront of the Richmond harbor went to gouge the last bond issue to the extent of some $200,000 for the rights of way, bulkheads, and damages, all of which was spent to improve their private holdings on which the taxpayers are paying 40 cents on the hundred today.

They now advocate another bond issue of $400,000 to finish a job that will take thirty to thirty-five millions of dollars to finish.

The outer wharf has been available for ocean going vessels for over a year. In that time six ships have unloaded at the Municipal dock, three of them due to the necessity of the government needing the building for storage during the war, and the other three I think were due to the stevedores' strike in San Francisco.

I say, why not wait until our present wharf is on a paying basis, or until the city is more able to finance the new bond issue than at the present time.

If the bonds should carry, they say new industries will come to Richmond. Did anyone ever see an industry of any kind breaking their necks to get into, or locate in a town where the tax rate is $4.17 on the hundred. In conclusion I would say: Let the private owners along the waterfront put up their 1,170,000 towards the finish. The Taxpayers have already donated their $1,170,000.

When this is done I am ready to boost for the bond issue. In other words; let those who are most benefited be as fair as the taxpayers have been.

J. H. HARTNETT.

The above communication from Councilman Hartnett is given space because the News has published every letter of the kind, from either side, so far, that has been requested, and so we accord Mr. Hartnett the same courtesy we have the others, notwithstanding that we consider his efforts more in the line of political bunk than argument.

We are just old-time friends enough of Johnny Hartnett to be sorry to see him sign his name to any such stuff as the above. He knows better than that. Being so long on the Council he cannot help but know better. We have not time or space here now to dwell on the matters he speaks of, but his assertions are fallacies from start to finish, and nobody knows that better than he.

Seven or eight years ago Engineer Haviland had a beautiful pipe dream, and drew plans for a harbor all same Bush Terminal of Brooklyn, with numerous gorgeous stone piers, innumerable wharves and warehouses and ocean ships going and coming thick as flies in summer. The cost for such

CONGRESSMAN CURRY SENDS MESSAGE TO RICHMOND PEOPLE

The following telegram was received from Congressman Charles F. Curry by Claude E. Clark, president of the Chamber of Commerce, with reference to the harbor bond election. Curry, who has always been interested in the Richmond harbor project, says: "I feel sure the citizens of Richmond will win their loyal fight and vote almost unanimously for the harbor bonds and thus assure the growth and prosperity of the city. The harbor development is essential, especially at this time when so many enterprises are considering locating in Richmond which has one of the finest harbor projects in the country."

"Congress, after its rivers and harbors committee at my invitation had visited the Richmond project, approved it as one of the most worthy in the country. Richmond can make no better and profitable investment than by providing its half of the money and thus insure the completion of the project."

"The United States House of Army Engineers for rivers and harbors has passed and endorsed all the surveys, plans and data. They are the highest authority on harbor work in our country and the citizens of Richmond have in their approval and assurance that all data and estimates were correct."

"The federal government will keep its contract. I know Richmond will fulfill her obligations. Good luck to Richmond and its splendid citizenry."

"CHARLES F. CURRY."

"Member Congress, Third California District."

ONE-MINUTE GIRLS' ISSUE INVITATION

Miss Myrtle Pearce, president of the One Minute Girls, issued the following invitation to the employed girls of Richmond to join in the new organization and to partake of their festivities at the Richmond club house next Monday evening:

"Every girl over 18 years of age who reads this may consider this a personal invitation to join the One Minute Girls under Community Service of Richmond."

"The aim of the club is to promote physical, social and intellectual advancement and serve the community in which we live by responding to a women's notice, to any non-partisan, non-sectarian, non-political call for our service."

"Our next meeting will be held at the Richmond club-house, Twelfth and Nevins, Monday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock when a business meeting will be held including discussion of forming a gymnasium class. Following there will be a get-together social with music, games and refreshments."

"We need your help! Come and bring a girl friend with you and get acquainted with other Richmond girls. There will be no admission charges nor club dues."

A MULTITUDE APPLAUDS ORATORS

Biggest and Most Enthusiastic Meeting of the Year Greets Rally of Chamber of Commerce, Addressed by Splendid Speakers for the Harbor Project—Music and Cheers.

"We are here to tell the truth to you people whose interests are the same as ours," declared Claude E. Clark, last night at the mass meeting for the Harbor Bonds, presiding over a capacity crowd, that filled all the seats of Lincoln Auditorium and overflowed into the aisles.

An Attorney-Deputy who was challenged to answer Attorney William Pearce's defense of the bonds, did not occupy the seat reserved for him, our young Patrick Henry proceeded to call for other opponents to enter the ring, and take up the gauntlet of defense of their opposition.

"In legal parlance, we have such a term as judgment by default," he declared, referring to the empty chair at his side. If Attorney DeLap has the audacity to object to the development of the city he calls his own and that gives him his meal ticket, he should have the moral courage to stand by his convictions. By failing to appear he has confessed the weakness and futility of the opposition.

"I appear in the capacity of a citizen and a taxpayer, not as a paid hireling of corporate interests. I am vitally interested in the development of our city, which came into being because the Standard Oil company recognized the advantages of our deep water facilities for the exportation of its commodities to the Orient."

"San Francisco grew phenomenally as it has since the earthquake because of its waterfront. Oakland has awakened, and by increasing its water facilities, has acquired more factories than any other city of its size in the United States."

"In 1911 the City Council conceived the idea of a harbor. Those who worked hardest for it then are now opposing it. The man who, with large gestures, proclaimed himself the father of Richmond Harbor, is now in the position of one who would hesitate because someone was pulling at his coat-tails from behind and telling him to sit down and keep quiet."

"It is true that we have had no factories since 1912. Could we ask factories to come here on the assumption that some time in an indefinite future we would have a harbor for them to ship by? As it is, with the very small wharf now in use, we are making a profit of $10,000 a year. Why shouldn't the harbor pay for itself at that rate if completed?"

"The present city administration has expended $214,000 on this work and now it asks us to throw it in the gutter. Matching its defective brains with General Black, the world's greatest engineer, they want us to quit. Why has the United States spent so much money on the proposition and is willing to spend more?"

"Is there a city in the United States with waterfront facilities that has not improved them? Los Angeles confesses that she would

HARBOR RIPPLES

The new harbor development asked for, in which the Government shares half the expense, will cost the average small home owner just $1.42 a year, and no more.
After this proposed work is done on the harbor channel the Government will keep it dredged out clean in future at its own expense. We have no upkeep to worry about.
The $18,000,000 the opposition howls about was a pipe dream on the part of Engineer Haviland. It couldn't happen here in less than a hundred years, and probably not then.
How many of Richmond's voters are free American citizens, and how many have a corporation ring in their noses? Tuesday will tell.

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

The Presbyterian good people had a rousing good time last night at a Halloween social, and a big crowd enjoyed it immensely. There was a fine supper at 6 o'clock and after that games for the children and a jolly good time generally. A short program was given, also, as follows:

Corner Solo—Mr. Willard Poage.
Piano Solo—Mrs. Goldsworthy.
Vocal Solo—Miss Ethel Lombrecht.
Song—By five little girls—Carolyn Cole, Hazel Buchanan, Gladice Wolf, Clarabel Benton, Ethel McClain.
Reading—Miss Wilma Blackman.
Trio—Mrs. C. S. Gibson, Mrs. Wm. Banton, Miss Ruth Sanborne.
Song—"Little Orphan Annie"—Carolyn Cole.
Reading—Mrs. Conwell.
Song—"Negro Cradle Song"—Reld Bullock, Richard Plate.
Vocal Solo—Lieut. Herbert Coleman.

REBEKAHS HOLD DISTRICT MEETING

Mrs. Louise Palpenghi, President of the Rebekah Assembly, will preside at the Rebekah convention that is to begin tonight at Fraternal Hall. Initiatory work will be put on by the Crockett Degree Staff, after which a musical and literary program will be given, the evening to end with a banquet.
On the reception committee are the following Past Noble Grandes: Mrs. J. Gerlach, Mrs. Josselyn, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Mrs. P. Dunlap and Mrs. Mary Moyle.

Senator Owens is out again after a few weeks' layup, caused by getting an electric shock in his foot on an electric train, which put his "wing" out of commission.

RED CROSS IS READY FOR DRIVE

Third Red Cross Roll Call Calls For Memberships Only—Headquarters Are To Be In Various Offices—All You Need Is a Heart and a Dollar, Not One But Both.

Richmond is ready for its Third Red Cross Roll Call. With the distribution last evening in the Elks lodge room of countless numbers of window flags and buttons and the final parting words of advice by Chairman Harry Marcus the campaign of organization has ended and it now remains for each individual member to get out Monday and finish the job in the shortest possible time.

All that is asked is a re-enrollment for the year 1920. This will be the only campaign the Red Cross will conduct for the year and since this enrollment entitles you to membership for one year at the nominal cost of one dollar and no other subscriptions will be taken, Tuesday evening should see every man in the city proudly displaying a Red Cross button on his lapel.

The women workers will have their headquarters in the East Bay Water company's office. All other workers will report to the campaign headquarters at Room 3, Berry building. Should a shortage of buttons develop, Asst. Chairman R. A. Coffey, who will be constantly at the campaign headquarters, will attend to replenishing the workers with supplies.

actory chairmen who were not present at the night meeting should call for their supplies at headquarters.

Red Cross booths have been established in the Big Store, at La Moines Drug Stores, at the Post-office and at Nideckers at the Point. Memberships can be taken at any of these booths.

Since the election laws are very strict as to certain regulations no Red Cross workers will be at the election booths as was planned some time ago.

The News is running a thousand extra papers this morning, so if one was not left if your yard, phone in and one will be sent special. It will be the same Sunday morning, also.

THE FRUGAL

"It is the thrifty and frugal who are the backbone of the nation. It is they who supply its funds. It is they upon whom rests its credit. It is they who are not dependent upon society. It is they who support all its institutions, particularly its charitable ones. It is they who are not haunted by the grim spectre of want throughout their lives. It is they who are forming habits of self-sacrifice and providence. And further, it is they who, as a rule, are the happy persons. * * * It is the thrifty who have enjoyment because they can afford it, and enjoyment untroubled by the fear of want tomorrow. It is the thrifty who are happier in the present because not fearful of the future—the saving, frugal, insured classes of the country. It is the thrifty who can afford to give their time to public matters, because not tied down to the actual needs of the day. And further, it is the thrifty who, by habits of self-sacrifice and foresight and frugality, are building the character that made the nation great when it was young, and that alone can keep the nation great. A man or a nation is worth what he saves and not what he spends."—Edward A. Woods.

POLITICAL SCOUTS BUSY THESE DAYS

SPYING OUT THE LAND FOR THE VARIOUS ASPIRANTS FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

TWO OF LATTER QUIT RACE

Men Who Previously Have Sought the Nomination More Easily Determine What Their Chances Are—Real Campaign to Open Soon.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—The end, or the near end, of the war has not stopped the practice of scouting. There are scouts abroad in the country today, political scouts in behalf of presidential candidates of the two great parties seeking to determine "how the land lies."

There are several receptive if not announced candidates for the nomination now serving their country in the legislative halls in Washington, or engaged in state, executive or business pursuits elsewhere. Every one of these men, if he would disclose the contents of his daily mail bag, would let the cat out of the bag along with the letters. One and all of them are getting reports from various sections of the country, telling them what the people think of them, what their chances seem to be in this district or that district and in this state and that state when the delegate choosing shall begin.

Politicians here who have no personal ambitions say the trouble with most of the scouts is that they make their wish the father of their thoughts, and that instead of being actually after facts they are more apt to look around for roses, forgetful of the thorns. Many a man has had his hopes raised only to have them dashed again when the truth became known.

Two Aspirants Drop Out.

However, there are scouts and scouts and some of them have been so honest that they have lost the friendship of the chieftains who gave them commissions for field service. It will not do to name names, but it is pretty well understood in Washington that at least two men who thought they had facts to use as foundations for their ambitions have given up all thought of making the presidential race because of the nature of the reports which their emissaries have sent in.

Men of either great party who have been candidates for the presidential nomination at other times have an advantage over the brethren who are making their first essay in the field of ambition. The names of several of the hopeful ones today were presented before conventions of other days and these men consequently know definitely just where their strength lay in former times, and can tell pretty well whether they have forfeited it in the years that have intervened. This knowledge enables some of the candidates to limit the territory of the operations of their scouts and gives them some other advantages over those who are newly entered into the race.

Already what the aspiring ones probably would call a campaign of education is in progress. It is customary for every senator and member of the house to send out to his constituents from time to time extracts from his speeches taken from the Congressional Record, and other literature, if it may be so called, which will tend to keep his name and his work before the people.

Today there is an intensified form of this campaign going on. It is probable that many a voter in the country has received from some prominent Democrat or Republican a considerable amount of personal literature in excess of that which he received in a year which was not the year of the eve of a presidential contest.

All this sort of effort is acknowledged to be legitimate. It is a custom that is common with men of both parties and has been common to them ever since parties in this country were organized and speeches were made in congress.

Booms to Boom by December.

In about four months to this form of campaigning will be added another. Speakers will go forth into the districts where delegates are to be chosen to speak in behalf of "him with ambitions." Moreover, headquarters of all the principal candidates will be opened in the city of Washington and in some cases in several other large cities of the land. Then the typewriters will be busy; the publicity agents "will write their best;" the mimeographs will be tireless and the mail carriers will bear extra burdens.

Washington never is so lively as when the banners of a dozen or fifteen candidates for the presidency display themselves from the windows of the Pennsylvania Avenue and Fifteenth Street office buildings. These headquarters become the focus of attraction for politicians and party workers from all parts of the United States. Men looking for jobs seek out the candidates' offices, and some of them come from a far distance. Everyone of them is certain that he can land more than a handful of delegates who are sure to vote first, last and all the time for the favorite one if he will only be wise enough to offer a good salary to the "promoter-in-chief here present."

It is a gay game and it is just about to begin.

Why Shoud I Vote for the Bonds--

Unless the Harbor Bonds are Voted We Lose all we Have Done and Forfeit the Government Appropriation

WE MUST PAY the Amount of Bonds Previously Voted for the Harbor, regardless of what further work is done.

THE HARBOR IS ONLY PARTLY COMPLETED and the Government says it can be completed for $728,000, and if Richmond will vote $400,000, the United State GOVERNMENT IS READY WITH THE $328,000 Balance.

ARE WE TO LOSE what we have Already Spent and the Government's $328,000, Because we will Have to Pay a few Cents More in Taxes?

If you Had Put in the Foundation and Built the Walls of Your Home and Had only half enough Money to Finish it and your Father offered you the Balance so that you Could Complete it, Would You Refuse?

Your Government, Mr. Voter, Stands in the Same Place, as Your Father. Accept His assistance, Vote the Bonds, Complete Your Harbor and You Can Invite Factories, Shipping and Commerce to Make Use of It and Repay to You Many Times the Cost.

Vote For the Bonds and Get Your Neighbor To Do So. Work to Get Out the Biggest Vote Possible.

Corporation Influence

a magnificent layout, he estimated, would be $18,000,000. We don't doubt it, and don't care a tinker's damn whether it is eighteen million or eighteen billion, and neither does anybody else, including John Hartnett. If such a thing ever did happen it would be a hundred years from now, and probably not then. But the fake so-called taxpayers association immediately pounces upon that ancient dream of Haviland's, multiplies the cost by two because of H. C. L., and assures the voter that our poor little harbor unit must cost him THIRTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS! Wow! Boo! Halloween ghost! And Hartnett arises to second the motion.

As to the taxation of the owners of waterfront property, the presumption is that they are paying their just ratio of taxes, same as all the rest of us are, and if they are not, then it is partly Mr. Hartnett's fault, as he is a member of the tax-fixing body.

And, have you noticed, that if you scratch a proponent of this little harbor bond issue that you almost invariably find a corporation employee?

ALICE BRADY PLAYS 'HIS BRIDAL NIGHT'

Alice Brady, the popular and charming star, who has gained the reputation of permitting no one to "double" for her, will be seen in a dual role in her latest Select Picture, "His Bridal Night," a racing, rollicking farce, which comes to the Richmond Theatre today.

"His Bridal Night" is the story of twins, Vi and Tiny. Miss Brady, with her charming grace and manner and adaptability, gives a delightful characterization of the twins. In the role of Tiny she is demure, thoughtful, conscientious, and a bit goody-goody. But as Vi she is vivacious, headstrong, mischievous, daring, lovable, and a bundle of "pep".

Miss Brady gives each of the twins a distinct personality of her own. They are twins in age and personal appearance only, but not in disposition. Each is a separate character, with a gripping, vivid, irresistible personality. You will love Alice Brady in this picture, and incidentally the twins.

Edward Earle plays the lead and James L. Crane has another important role. Kenneth Webb directed "His Bridal Night."

Do you know where your children are at all times?

This question is very pertinent, coming after a coroner's inquest that exonerated a truck driver from blame in running over a four-year-old boy and killing him.

It is also pertinent in view of the call sent in to the fire department Thursday afternoon to send someone to put out a fire started by three children under six years of age who were playing in a lot off Macdonald avenue at Fifth street. They had built a fire, and at the time of the call they were picking up papers from it and feeding the flames that were being blown toward them by the high wind.

Had this fire resulted in a serious disaster or in the burning to death of any of the children, who would have been to blame?

Local Laconics Of Richmondites

Richmond Order of Moose has planned an annual ball to take place at East Shore Park on November 8.

Marshal Glavovich of Albany has bought a new motorcycle. He announces that the law of 20 miles on San Pablo avenue and 15 miles at crossings will be enforced and violators arrested.

Because of the Red Cross and band meetings there was no meeting of the board of directors of the Social Service Bureau last night. The meeting has been postponed to next Wednesday.

C. W. Nickerson of Suisun, who recently purchased the Contra Costa Abstract company at Martinez was here yesterday getting acquainted with Richmond land owners, realty men and attorneys.

Raymond Reed and Harry Koppin of the U. S. S. Minnesota were picked up as stragglers here by the local police acting on orders from the ship commander and returned to their ship.

Charles Mallory writes from Riverside aviation field that he is delighted with his work as an aviation mechanic and enjoys an occasional rise in the clouds.

The Social Assemblies gave a dance Thursday night at the Richmond club-house. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Fred LaMoine, Mrs. Harry W. Pulse, Mrs. J. F. Cassidy and Miss Isabelle Graham.

Miss Ida Gardiner, the contralto, will sing in this city Friday night, November 7th, at Lincoln auditorium. Miss Gardner comes to Richmond from a long and successful concert tour. Her voice is said to be more charming than ever and she has increased her repertoire to include some delightful new songs.

Someone turned in a false fire alarm Thursday night at box 315 at Seventeenth and Chanslor avenue in violation of the law. The offender will be vigorously prosecuted, if he is discovered.

At the convention of the E. A. Star held at Santa Cruz, Mrs. Martha Chandler of Acantha Chapter, Richmond, who was made district deputy grand matron of the sixteenth district, which takes in all of the lodges of Contra Costa county.

The children's department of the Public Library offers a story telling period every Saturday at 3 o'clock. The stories this week will be "The Coming of the Wonder Tree," an Arabian legend which is suited for nature study, and a story from Pinocchio, a real child's story.

Today will be Red Cross day at the Public Library. Posters for the Red Cross will be exhibited at the main building and at the Stege branch. Everyone who takes out a book will find a Red Cross folder inserted between the leaves.

CHINESE BECOME SOCIAL PIONEERS

Men and Women Form Good Fellowship Club Together Under Y. W. C. A. Leadership.

The Good Fellowship Club has made its appearance in society in Hangchow, China.

It began with the desire of a progressive young Chinese doctor to give his compatriots, especially the Christians, some healthful form of social intercourse.

Channels for a good, clean, social life among Chinese people are very limited. Until recently becoming a Christian often meant cutting oneself off from one's friends and relatives, also from feast days and festivals. As for joint meetings of men and women—well, such a thing was never heard of in decent society.

The young doctor's plan of having a club where men and their wives might come together to enjoy a good time with each other was discouraged and snuffed at. However, a few people agreed to be pioneers in the cause of social intercourse, and Y. W. C. A. secretaries agreed to help make the club a success.

At first the meetings of the club were laughed at by outsiders and the whole affair considered a joke. However, the members kept on meeting, first at one house and then at another. Soon the men got over the feeling of strangeness at starting out with their wives on Tuesday evening for a friend's home. The women began to enjoy the outing and to take part in the discussions—an intelligent part, too—much to the surprise of their husbands.

The membership grew. The club's fame began to spread. At first the discussions of the club were conducted in English. Soon it became necessary for them to be carried on in Chinese so that more of the women could understand and take part. Many of the members began to apply for admission. The members began indulging in much friendly chaffing and occasionally forgot their dignity to play jokes on one another. Finally it became so large that it had to be divided into two sections, which met separately three Tuesday evenings in the month and on the fourth Tuesday met together for a joint session, with a special program.

Students just returned from American and German colleges, an old Buddhist scholar who is particularly interested in the discussion on Buddhism and Christianity, merchants, railroad and government officials compose the men's side of the room. The women are still a bit shy about talking in front of so many people, but many of them show signs of great executive ability and power of leadership. They are all well poised, clear thinking individuals, who will have a great influence on China's future. They discuss among themselves group meetings in the various churches, the lack of amusements for Chinese women, social service work, subscription lists for orphanage, cake making, types of stoves, baby diets, the latest engagements and other topics such as one would hear discussed by a group of women gathered together any place in America.

The social part of the evening is given over to gentlemen, which at first astounded the sober Chinese gentlemen, but which they take up with great zest after the first evening. And their wives enjoy it just as greatly.

Real American pleasures are the latest thing which the club has tried and they are a great success. A Christmas play is being planned now.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE.

Chinese Girls Learn It to Talk to One Another.

Chinese women students in the Tung Fu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body.

Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.

Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls' Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

Multitude Applaud

Who pays the help of the Standard Oil company, the Santa Fe, the Oakland Transfer Railway company? You pay it. You make it possible for these concerns to pay.

"I am surprised that the people of this town have tried to throttle their own children to death. Remember the mud on Macdonald avenue and the pavement we have now."

"I make my appeal to the workers to consider the contemplated ferry to San Francisco. If you don't vote the bonds, the ferry will not come, because it needs deep water to run in. With the ferry system thousands of San Franciscans will settle in Richmond."

"I am not an orator, I am telling this in my own way. Sleep on it, and next Tuesday, let us flood the polls."

SPEECH OF W. L. LANE City Councilman

"I will not tell you how to vote. I will tell you how I am going to vote."

"I came to Richmond in 1901 and have taken pride in the city's development. Mistakes have been made in the work on the harbor. More mistakes will probably be made. But mistakes are unavoidable."

"I have always looked forward to a Greater Richmond. I agree that we need playgrounds. The same interests who opposed the passing of bonds for the playgrounds are now opposing the harbor bonds. They are doing this because of a small increase in taxation."

"The Taxpayers' Association has always been against the passing of bonds in the past. They will always be against them."

"It is rumored that the people who work in a certain industry have been told how to vote. If I were working for a corporation interest I would tell them where to go if I were told how to vote by them."

"If you love your city, support it. The best way to support is to vote the bonds."

SPEECH OF H. A. JOHNSTON
"I did not quite enjoy having my friend Garrard so severely blamed for his actions in the bond matter. He is a good man. He means well. I feel like offering a prayer for him; not 'Forgive him, for he knows not what he does,' but 'Forgive him, for he has to do what he does.'"

"He and Hartnett were enthusiastic for the harbor until a few months ago. Then their was a change. Who pulled their coats off?"

"Two months ago Hartnett said at a Council meeting that if the people of Richmond did not finish the harbor it would be a crime. Why this sudden change?"

"On the assessment roll of the City of Richmond there are no such names as DeLap, Clara Horner or Roswell. So these people are not acting from selfish motives in quoting Richmond's tax rate against that of San Francisco, omitting that of Berkeley, which is 4.47 and of Oakland, which is 4.88."

"The sample ballot will tell you what the money is for. It is not to build docks, wharves and piers. Oakland built none of these. All she did was to give shipping facilities."

"If the Standard Oil is showing far-sightedness in building up its waterfront, isn't it good business policy for us to build up our own?"

ANNIE LAURIE FAIL TO COME

Mrs. Ruth Fuller Field, Secretary of the Callista Chamber of Commerce filled in the gap made by the illness of Annie Laurie. She swayed the feelings of her hearers in a talk on Improvements in general and brought to light the startling information that but three or four of the audience had ever been out to look at their own harbor project.

"Mothers," she pleaded, "how would you like to have a blot on the name of your girl of thirteen, just blossoming into her teens? Still less will you like to look back from the future and sorrowfully feel that you had put a blot on your own fair city when she was at that age?"

BIG STORE DRAWING AT RICHMOND THEATRE

Tonight at Richmond Theatre the prizes will be given by a committee consisting of Mayor Long, Mrs. Martha A. Chandler and J. F. Galvin, for the Fourth Birthday anniversary of the Big Store. Tickets have been given away with each purchase, and they indicate prizes amounting to $245 that are to be drawn for.
